Best of years?

Glenn Rockets assemble explosive grid arsenal

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although Westland John Glenn High School football coach Chuck Gordon apparently landed on the wrong foot and is recuperating from a serious leg injury after a skydiving mishap, the veteran coach is hoping that his team gets off to a fast start Friday night in the season opener against Detroit Murray Wright.

Gordon suffered a broken leg in the parachute jump and is looking at his team on crutches from the sidelines. What he sees on the field is probably one of the best assemblage of Rocket grid talent in recent years.

Western Lakes Conference coaches pick the Rockets to finish first in their division.

"I'm O.K.," said Gordon when questioned about the skydiving incident. "But I would prefer not talking about it because it may distract from the kids and the season."

Will the injury hamper his coaching efforts? "No, not really. I am fine."

Gordon is in his 17th year as head coach and his 1992 edition finished with an enviable 7-2 record. However, that record did not earn the Rockets a berth in post-season play.

This year the Westlanders hope to rectify that miscarriage of justice.

I'm O.K., But I would prefer not talking about it because it may distract from the kids and the season.

With twins - Derek and Bryan Besco who are 6-1, 195-pounds - returning to the Rocket lineup and a host of sturdy veterans such as tackles Tom North (5-10, 250), Matt Schwartz (6-1, 250), guards Jim Lock (5-9, 180) and Geoff Miodowski (6-4, 240) also in the fold, Glenn has the appearance of an unbeatable team.

But the proof is in the play. They will have to prove that they are the best on the gridiron.

"I know they have picked us to win our division," said Gordon. "But everybody I've seen this year look bigger than we are. The division and the conference have a lot of balance this year."

The Rockets will have Brian Morrison, a 5-8, 150-pound senior handling the quarterbacking chores this season. And he is an excellent passer and can make things happen on the turf.

Making his starting debut at tailback will be Tariq Horne, a rugged senior who has plenty of speed. Fullback is Jeromey Cosby (5-10, 195).

The Besco twins also will be utilized offense with Derek as split end and Bryan a wide receiver. Mike Bint, a 6-3, 210-pound senior, is the tight end for the Rockets.

There are other heavyweights on the Rocket roster: Center Tony TaBone checks in at 200-pounds while defensive tackles Jim Tenant and Jason Batchelder tilt the scales at 210-plus. The nose guard, Jason Fuller is 6-1, 250-pounds of dynamite.

The Rocket secondary consists of seniors Matt Howton (5-9, 150), Dave Irwin (5-8, 150) and juniors Brent Washington (6-1, 160) and Jake Henry (5-8, 140).

Punter Steve Heuer, a senior, should give the Rockets a potent kicking game.

Has pay to play hurt Glenn.

"No, not really," says Gordon, who added that the "team's attendance has been outstanding. All of our kids and our staff are working hard to make this a successful season."

And maybe one that the Rockets will never forget.

Incidentally, Glenn plays host to Murray Wright with kickoff scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

The Detroiters, a 5-4 team a year ago, also have an outstanding quarterback in William Messenger. The defense is led by senior line-backer Jerry Jeter.

"It's the season opener for both teams," said Gordon. "We're looking forward to the match up."

Gordon's assistant coaching staff includes Craig Hnatuk, Tim Hardin, Mike Henry, Bill Kelley and Todd DeLuca.

Robichaud and Inkster high school teams will begin their quests for the 1993 Suburban Athletic Conference football crown on Friday, but they will take separate roads.

For Robichaud, a perennial SAC title contender, there may be only one obstacle to overcome - Highland Park - while for natural rival, Inkster, the pitfalls are many.

"We have a very competitive team this year," boasted Robichaud coach Bob Yauck, which could be the understatement of the year. With 17 letter winners returning from of a team that was 7-1 last year, the Bulldogs are an overwhelming favorite to take the title and capture a playoff berth, something denied them a year ago.

Yauck, in his 24th season as head coach, begins the journey to the top of the SAC hill at 7 Friday night at Ypsilanti Lincoln.

With an all-veteran starting team that includes senior quarterback Tom Massey to guide them, Robichaud should have little trouble running past and over a rebuilding

Ypsi Lincoln.

In the meantime, the Vikings and sophomore coach Vic Calhoun will take on Saginaw Buena Vista at 4:30 p.m. Friday before the home crowd in their season debut. The Vikings, a perennial also-ran in the SAC for the past decade, could surprise a lot of teams thanks to some basketball talent that is being forged into a football machine.

The Vikings will have the services of junior Al White, a

Howton: This will be a year of testing for Wayne Memorial

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

This will be a year of tests for Wayne Memorial High School gridders who, like their counterparts at Westland John Glenn, Plymouth-Salem and Plymouth-Canton, begin the 1993 campaign with a pay-to-play anchor around their helmets.

The pay-to-play crisis is only one of a series of tests for his team pointed out Chuck Howton, who begins his eighth season as the Zebras' head coach Friday night at Adrian.

"There is not a lot of depth on this team in the first place," Howton said, "and having to pay to participate definitely isn't helping. Unfortunately, some of these kids also had a similar experience as freshmen."

To defray the costs of sports, Wayne-John Glenn athletes are being asked to pay $167 per athlete per sport to participate. The Plymouth-Canton School Board was scheduled to meet Monday night to decide whether to eliminate sports for the 1993-94 school year if funds were not found to finance the varsity programs.

Howton and the Zebras are coming off of their best season in recent years. Last year, the Zebras posted a 7-3 record and captured the final Wolverine 'A' Conference title. They made it into the state playoffs but lost to Howell in the first round.

With most of their old foes in the Wolverine "A" joining them, Wayne will compete in the newly-established Mega Conference this year.

The new conference will be a major test for the Zebras who are rebuilding after losing such notables as All-State running back Bruce Calhoun and quarterback Tim Mate.

For the first time in memory, Wayne may go with a freshman at the quarterback throttle. Howton and his staff are grooming Lorenzo Guess, a speedy 6-2, 165-pound exceptional athlete to lead the Zebras.

"Lorenzo is a good leader and has a lot of confidence for a freshman," said Howton. "We're banking on him that he will get the job done."

If Guess runs into trouble, Howton said the backup signal-caller is Scott Wetmore, 5-10, 155-pound athlete who saw action at the position a year ago.

And don't be surprised to see end Jason Overton also in the slot. Overton, who missed most of the pre-season training because he played baseball with a team (Lincoln Park) that reached and won a national championship, has the credentials to be a Division I player.

The 6-5, 210-pound senior will start at tight end and double as a defensive end once he gets into shape.

There is not a lot of depth on this team in the first place, and having to pay to participate definitely isn't helping.

- Chuck Howton
Zebra's head coach

"But we may also use him as a quarterback," Howton said.

Also returning from the previous squad are Reggie McCarthy, a 5-10, 195-pound senior who will handle the fullback and a defensive end slot; John Lloyd, a 5-10, 175-pound senior guard and linebacker; Jake Rathborn, a 6-2, 250-pound senior center and defensive tackle and Tony McGill, a linebacker-guard who checks in at 6-1, 196.

"These are the kids that we're building around," said Howton. "We're on solid ground with them. These kids also will have to provide the leadership for the other members of this team."

Howton also has some good-looking players in fullback Corey McClelland, a 6-1, 205-pound who will be one of the starting linebackers; tailback Reggie McCarthy; flanker Aaron Bates (6-2, 185); and Gerald Adams, a 6-1, 160-pound split end.

Other Wayne notables include tackles Mike Kennedy, a 6-2, 225-pound junior; Dail Griffin, 5-10, 300-pound junior tackle who, according to the coach, "moves well for his size."

Because of the lack of numbers, most of the players probably will be working overtime this season. McGill, John Lloyd and McClelland will back up the defensive line, while joining Kennedy as a tackle on defense will be senior Derek Bode, a 5-11, 215-pound athlete.

Howton predicts Belleville will be among the frontrunners in the new league with always-tough Fordson fighting it out for top honors.

"Belleville has a great quarterback (Ralph Truitt) returning and a score of lettermen," said Howton. "And Fordson has football tradition going for it."

And as for Wayne, look for all nine games to be tough, Howton stressed.

"In the past we had some success against teams like Trenton and Southgate - but they are not in our division this year. Instead, we will meet Woodhaven for the first time, and they play excellent football over there."

Cloud of-pay-to-play hangs over Salem, Canton

Moshimer: 'We will be improved'

With an ominous cloud of "pay-to-play" hanging over the Plymouth-Canton School District, gridders from the two high schools in the district are preparing to launch the 1993 season.

"At this point, we really don't know if we are going to have a football season," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer, who added that the financial controversy surrounding extra-curricular activities has created an uncertainty about the season.

"I haven't seen anything like this in his 27 years of coaching," Moshimer added.

Moshimer went on to commend his team members for braving the wave of politics that has jeopardized the season.

Chief's year is also in jeopardy

Plymouth-Canton football coach Bob Khoenle and the Chiefs will also be looking over their shoulders to see if they will be able to pay-to-play.

Because of a lack of funds, the Plymouth-Canton School District may eliminate competitive athletics from the school curriculum for the 1993-94 school year.

If funding is found the Chiefs will begin the campaign Friday night at Monroe.

Khoenle, entering his seventh year as head coach, says that the pay-to-play controversy has not taken a toll on the varsity club, "but it definitely has affected the freshmen and junior varsity teams."

"This idea that one day we're going to play and the

Because of the lack of funds, Plymouth-Canton school officials have threatened to eliminate varsity sports if funds are not found.

According to school officials, parents have rallied in support of the athletic teams. One source, who requested anonymity, revealed some parents are willing to establish a foundation that would collect monies from a wide range of fundraisers and present the board with the funds.

The school board was to listen to the presentation at the Monday night meeting.

"It's tough getting a team prepared for a season that may not be," Moshimer said. "This team will be prepared for its opener nonetheless," he added.

With school board permission, Salem will launch the 1993 campaign on the home turf as host to Belleville. Kick-off is slated for 7:30 p.m.

Belleville, under sophomore coach Robert LaPointe, is the pre-season favorite to win the newly-aligned Mega (nee Wolverine 'A') Conference. The Tigers have one of the finest young quarterbacks in the area in senior Ralph Truitt.

"We know that they (Belleville) have an exceptional team this year," Moshimer stressed. "It will be a tough opener."

About 40 gridders showed up for varsity practice, but Moshimer found only five hold-overs from last year.

next day we're not obviously hurts morale," Khoenle said. "The kids are here to have fun and play - not to be entangled in the politics of school financing. The older kids realize what is happening but, on the junior varsity and freshmen squads, this has hurt us."

Khoenle has an excellent varsity crop. There are 22 let-termers listed on the Chiefs roster.

"We have some good-looking prospects who are eager to play," the Chiefs coach said. "I just hope we can remove all the obstacles in the way of getting this season under way."

6-6, 235-pound center-forward who is being groomed by Calhoun as a tight end. White is considered one of the finest prep cage talents in Michigan.

And Maurice Ballard, a versatile athlete who has been clocked in 4.7 for the 40-meters, has also made himself available for service. He can be an exceptional target for any quarterback.

Inkster also has the services of transfer-from-Wayne Memorial Andre Graves, a eager turned grinder. Graves stands 6-2 and is 185 and is considered an excellent prospect.

The Vikings launched the 1992 campaign at Buena Vista, a team that led 12-0 at half before Inkster staged a stunning second-half rally that netted them 28 points and the opening-season victory, 28-18.

Saginaw probably hasn't forgotten that debacle, and they'll be out to avenge that upset.

If Calhoun can keep his Vikings healthy, Inkster may surface as the Cinderella team of the season.

"I really liked what I saw, and I became very committed and devoted to building a chain of stores that would be the only one of its kind in the entire country."

THE CANDY MAN

Entrepreneur of the year capitalizes on bulk candy, snacks is the Willy Wonka of the 90s.

For Sidney R. Rubin, president and chief executive officer of Mr. Bulky Treats and Gifts, the candy business is a consuming passion.

Rubin was recently selected as the Wholesale/Retail Entrepreneur of the Year for his unending achievements with redefining the focus of Mr. Bulky Treats and Gifts.

The awards program was sponsored by: Ernst and Young, Inc. Magazine; Merrill Lynch; Comerica Bank; Crain's Detroit Business; the law firm of Dickinson, Wright, Moon, Van Dusen and Freeman; Michigan Bell Small Business Markets and WJR Radio.

Rubin has increased the system-wide sales of the company to $55 million. In 1993, he expects to build 50 new stores across the U.S.

"My background is Circus World Toy Stores," Rubin said. "That was a fun business because it was all toys. There were 168 toy stores located throughout the country. In 1982 the company was sold, and it was the largest privately owned retailer in the nation."

At that time, after being in the toy business for 15 years, Rubin said he thought he would venture into a new business, but it had to be fun.

"I originally invested in many retail companies, but none were as much fun as Mr. Bulky had to offer," Rubin said. "The original investment was not going the way I had hoped it would which meant I had to come in and replace the management team and hire a whole new management organization in 1988."

Mr. Bulky Treats and Gifts was originally started by two Canadian entrepreneurs. Both worked in a bulk food warehousing and distribution business in Toronto, Ontario.

In 1984, Rubin purchased a minority interest in the business. At the same time, utilizing years of retail experience, he worked as a consultant to the company.

Mr. Bulky at that time was franchising bulk food stores in neighborhood shopping centers including Westland Center. Each store offered a wide assortment of candy, nuts, coffees, pastas, soup mixes, flours and other food items for the consumer who was looking for value and variety.

In 1987, the company grew to 15 franchise and one company stores. Rubin purchased the interest of the original founders and took over day-to-day control and management.

By 1988, he turned his focus to enclosed shopping mall store opportunities. During that year he opened several company stores, growing to 11 by the end of the year with 39 franchise locations.

"I really liked what I saw, and I became very committed and devoted to building a chain of stores that would be the only one of its kind in the entire country," Rubin said. "Before I began making the changes, the stores were selling everything from pasta to dog food."

"I just didn't think people went to a mall to buy 10 pounds of soup. But, I was looking for something that would capture the interest of somebody who was looking for a quick fix or something to snack on or graze."

Few customers can resist the appeal of Mr. Bulky's enticing displays in malls and shopping centers. A new Mr. Bulky outlet is expected to open in Westland Center next year.

In 1989 Rubin slowed the expansion of the stores to study the store concept more closely. He said he wanted to find out why the stores were so popular and what improvements needed to be made before expanding into a national chain.

"I narrowed the field down to something I like, which is chocolate and candy," Rubin said. "So, we developed a concept of the candy operation."

What emerged from the management changes, consumer product studies and consultations in 1990 was a leading edge treat and gift retailer that centered around candies, nuts and snacks in bulk. At this time, Rubin also began his campaign for national expansion.

The headquarters for Mr. Bulky is located in Troy which houses 65 employees who assist Rubin with maintaining Mr. Bulky's number one status.

Not unlike the Willy Wonka chocolate factory, the Mr. Bulky enterprise is divided into several management offices including an area for taste testing, market analysis, packaging design and consumer input.

"We have warehousing facilities throughout the country," Rubin said. "In our chainwide stores we have close to 2,000 people working for us."

With more than 300 items located in each Mr. Bulky, what is the number one selling item?

"Gummi Bears," Rubin said. "Tearjerkers are also very popular. Basically, anything that makes your mouth turn colors are big sellers."

When looking at a Mr. Bulky Treats and Gifts store, one would think children are the largest consumers with all the colorful balloons, rainbow-colored candies and unending tantalizing variety of chocolates.

"Actually, our main customers are women 30 to 40 years old," Rubin said. "It's the women who bring their children to our store. Older adults primarily focus on the low-calorie type items of which we are known throughout the country for our wide selection which consists of about 100 different items."

Rubin said the National Diabetic Association has listed the Mr. Bulky stores in their pamphlets recommending the products to their members.

"It is not uncommon in many of our stores to hear customers say 'I've traveled 70 miles because of your stores,'" Rubin said.

Why do all of the Bulky products taste so good?

"Taste testing is done on a daily basis and by item," Rubin said. "Every item that gets put into our stores are tested and sampled by someone. We feel that if we don't like it, our customers won't like it."

"If it's not good enough for us, it's not good enough for our customers."

The average Mr. Bulky store is approximately 1,300 square feet. There are several stores, however, that are close to 2,000 square feet.

"Those are primarily in areas where thousands of people are walking by our door every day. For instance Columbus City Center in Columbus and Mall of America in Minneapolis where we started with one store a year ago, and now we have two stores in that shopping center," Rubin said.

With the new tight budget approved by President Bill Clinton as well as the tax cuts approved by Gov. John Engler, does the small business owner have a chance to survive?

Rubin said "most definitely if the individual has a product that will be in demand."

"The first thing you have to have is a good idea," Rubin said. "If you are totally committed, then you can find all the money to go into business because there is a lot of money out there to go into a business."

"Finding money for a good idea has never been a problem. They also have to have a mission and a game plan. Chances are, if it works on paper, it will work out in the field."

Rubin said his mission and game plan when he first started with Mr. Bulky was to be the largest candy retailer in the U.S. that would offer the customer the right product, at the right place, at the right time and at a fair price.

Mr. Bulky closed in the Westland Mall because it had the wrong product at the time, according to Rubin.

"The store was a temporary store to begin with," Rubin said. "We've been waiting for the right location to open up. We have been promised a location now, and we expect to be there in 1994."

Having the right products that are in demand at the right time definitely provide an enormous profit. This year Rubin said he projects Mr. Bulky Treats and Gifts will make approximately $75 million nationwide.

"I also like to speak in terms of pounds," Rubin said. "We have sold over 400,000 pounds of jelly beans since January. We have sold over half a million pounds of Gummi Bears. Oh, how sweet it is."

Rubin will continue to expand his savory empire with an expansion agenda that includes the west coast and Mexico.

"We're presently opening a store a week," Rubin said. "I intend to continue that pace over the next few years. What we continuously do all day long is improve our product mix."

"We also search the country abroad for items and candies we think our customers will buy."

Recently Rubin opened four stores in California, and he plans to build 16 more within the next 1 1/2 years.

Accused man found competent to face trial in traffic death

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

An Ecorse man was found competent to stand trial Aug. 23 at the 29th District Court examination last week before Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Kirk Miller was bound over to Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court on second degree murder charges.

The defendant had a seizure in June en route to the 29th District Court for an examination which was later adjourned until this month. Miller was taken to Annapolis Hospital where several tests were conducted before he was released.

The Ecorse man was driving a gray Grand Prix eastbound on Michigan Avenue June 2 when he allegedly slammed broadside into a blue mini-van traveling southbound on Second Street in Wayne.

Miller appeared for a June 4 arraignment before Archbold, and a $100,000 bond was set.

The accident resulted in the death of Canton Township resident Brian Hale, 33, who was a passenger in the mini-van. Westland resident Harold Maples, 37, who was the driver, was hospitalized at the University of Michigan Hospital. He has been released and is recovering.

Miller was being pursued by Allen Park police officers who were attempting a traffic stop. Miller didn't have a license plate and was speeding, according to police officials.

"At approximately 7:10 p.m. the Wayne Police Department received information from the Allen Park Police Department that they were pursuing a vehicle in the area of westbound I-94 and Wayne Road," Wayne police Lt. Dan Randall said.

"Wayne advised Allen Park police to contact Romulus police as I-94 and Wayne was their venue."

At approximately 7:15 p.m. Wayne police officers received information that the vehicle was eastbound on Michigan from I-275.

"A Wayne car was on Hannan Road approaching eastbound Michigan Avenue and observed police vehicles on Michigan Avenue from Hannan Road with overhead lights on," Randall said.

"The Wayne car turned eastbound on Michigan and advised us he was eastbound assisting other jurisdictions. The Wayne unit continued eastbound on Michigan Avenue for approximately two miles when the police officer informed us a crash occurred at Michigan Avenue eastbound at Second Street."

Miller could receive up to life in prison if found guilty of second degree murder.

Labor Day travel increase expected

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

A 3-percent increase in Labor Day travel is expected this year over the 1992 mark.

Nearly 90 percent of the trips planned will be inside the U.S., with three-fourths of the travel more than 100 miles from home, according to a recent survey. In addition, among those surveyed a chance of poor weather is not expected to change their plans.

"More than 80 percent of those with travel plans said they would not consider canceling a trip after hearing a weather forecast for rain or cool temperatures," said Robert Tellier, AAA Michigan Touring Manager.

The survey revealed that 16 percent of the households plan a pleasure trip during the Labor Day weekend with 25 percent staying at hotels, motels or resorts; 23 percent residing at rental cottages or houses; 23 percent staying with relatives, and 19 percent at campgrounds. Nearly 80 percent of those trips will be made by automobile, AAA reported.

Factors which point to an increase in travel during the 78-hour Labor Day weekend

More than 80 percent of those with travel plans said they would not consider canceling a trip after hearing a weather forecast for rain or cool temperatures.

Robert Tellier

are: (1) Pent-up demand by travelers who postponed vacations last summer due to inclement weather, (2) An increase in Mackinac Bridge crossings of 10.9 percent in July, and low gasoline prices. Michigan motorists are expected to clock an estimated 975 million miles this Labor Day weekend, 2.5 percent.

A popular Labor Day attraction is Greenfield Village in Dearborn where visitors can find temporary "employment" at a special Sept. 6 observance. Hands-on activities and first-person presentations will provide a chance for visitors to explore the experiences of the working men and women of the nation in both urban and rural communities.

At the Print Shop, visiting "apprentices" can learn to sort and set type, while others may put nuts, bolts and washers together under the supervision of a foreman on a special assembly line.

Admission to the Greenfield Village Labor Day observance is included with regular admission. The village hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

Other special events for the Labor Day weekend are:

- Sept. 2-6, Shoreline Spectacular, Muskegon
- Sept. 2-6, Michigan Peach Festival, Romeo.
- Sept. 2-6, Montreux Jazz Festival, Hart Plaza, Detroit.
- Sept. 3-5, Pink Salmon Derby, DeTour Village.
- Sept. 4-6, Antique Festival, Chesaning.
- Sept. 4-6, Steam and Gas Engine Show, Escanaba.
- Sept. 4-6, Klein Rodeo Show, Sparta.
- Sept. 5, Fish Boil, Northport
- Sept. 6, Mackinac Bridge Walk, St. Ignace to Mackinaw City.

Park hosts custom car show

A variety of classic, street rod and custom cars will be featured in a Sept. 12 car show at Willow Metropark Activity Center.

The park is located east of Interstate-275, north of Willow Road.

Classic/stock (pre-1968) and all Corvettes plus street rods, custom cars and trucks will vie for awards in the 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. event.

Entrants may pre-register by calling the Metropark at 697-9181 or may register, beginning at 8 a.m., on the day of the show. There are no fees for participating vehicles.

Entertainment will be provided by Family Portrait.

Participation plaques will be presented to the first 50 entries and Peoples Choice awards will be given to the first, second- and third- place winners.

All events are free, but a Metropark vehicle entry permit is required. Daily permits are $3. Annual permits, which admit vehicles to all Metroparks, are $8 for senior citizens and $15 for others.

A billion dollars here, a billion there, and soon it gets to be real money.
Wayne Councilman Pat Norton commented on the concerns residents had regarding a paving program.

2 tornadoes hit Westland

Mother Nature reminded Westland of her capability Sept. 3 creating ideal temperatures for two tornadoes to touch down in the areas of Warren and Lilley and Ford and Hicks.

The first tornado hit Warren and Lilley at approximately 6:02 p.m., according to Wayne fire officials. The second touched down only moments after.

No injuries occurred, according to Wayne fire officials.

Tot killed in crash

A sleeping 4-year-old Taylor girl was killed Thursday morning when she was thrown from her grandmother's car after it struck a tree on Inkster Road in Romulus.

Romulus Police Traffic Officer Jerry Yoscovits reported the Taylor woman was driving south on Inkster Road (south of Wick Road) about 8:30 a.m., when she lost control of her vehicle.

The 1985 Ford Thunderbird first hit a tree, Yoscovits said, and then bounced back onto the roadway, where it was struck by a 1991 Ford Ranger.

The child, Amanda-Ann Janice Fulton, was picked up off the road by the grandmother and rushed to a van being operated by an unidentified male, who transported them to Heritage Hospital.

The girl was pronounced dead at the hospital.

Examination set for Wayne man

A Sept. 8 examination has been scheduled for a Wayne man before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Thomas R. Grandowicz, 45, was arraigned Aug. 29 on three counts of first-degree criminal sexual conduct before Archbold. Bond was set at $20,000 or 10 percent.

"The three counts represent three separate occasions the individual is being charged with," Dews said. "The incident involves a female juvenile."

Wayne police could not release any more information about the victim as a means to protect the individual. The incidents, however, took place between 1986 and 1993, according to Dews.

Opening is delayed

Students at Romulus Senior High School will get an extended vacation this week, as the opening of the totally remodeled school building will be delayed until Sept. 13, instead of Thursday.

Superintendent of Romulus Schools Dr. William Bedell said after consulting with the contractor for the building remodeling effort and the fire marshal, it was decided to delay the opening of the school year.

Bedell said the earliest the fire marshal could inspect the various new safety mechanisms would be Sept. 9. Rather than face a possible building evacuation if something unforeseen was found, the school district decided to delay the opening to the following Monday.

All the other schools will have half day opening sessions on Wednesday Sept. 8 and first full days the following day.

Child finds father's body in Sumpter home

A six-year-old boy discovered the lifeless body of his father Thursday when he home from school at approximately 3:30 p.m.

"We are treating this as a homicide, pending the results from the medical examiner," said Sumpter Township Police Chief Clinton Brown on Friday. "The cause of death is unknown at this time, but we are expecting the results of the autopsy to be released soon."

Brown said the son of Gerald Hearn, 24, returned home from school, and found his father on the floor. When he could not revive his father, the boy went to the home of the next-door neighbor to summons help.

The neighbor also sought to revive Hearn, and then called the Sumpter

Township Police Department.

Police responded to the emergency call, along with an ambulance and fire rescue personnel. However, officials reported that Hearn apparently was dead before the boy arrived home.

"We are currently investigating the incident as a homicide," said Brown, who declined to provide further information on the death until a full report is received from the medical examiner.

Hearn resided in the 50000 block of Willis Road with his son and a live-in girlfriend, according to police. The woman had not been interviewed as of Friday morning.

The third time is a charm.

At least it was for long-time Wayne resident Leora Smith who was chosen as Homemaker of the Year at the Wayne County Fair recently.

Smith said she couldn't believe her work was good enough for first-place ribbons.

"I've entered the fair twice before, and I just didn't think of myself as an expert in making crafts," Smith said. "I mainly make the quilts and other items for my family and friends because I enjoy the work."

Smith captured a first-place ribbon for a three-piece rayon dress outfit which has swirled colors of blue and cream. Other crafts she made with her hands that attracted the judges' attention for top honors included a peach and white rose bouquet and a snowman.

"I made the snowman look very mischievous," Smith said. "I put long eyelashes on him so he would look like a little child."

Assault victim unable to testify

In an ironic twist of fate, Roslyn Michelle McGraw may escape prosecution because the woman she allegedly attacked has been left mentally unable to testify.

McGraw, who turned 21 on July 23, is accused of armed robbery and terrorizing 75-year-old Myrtle DuBose who suffered head injuries and was left for dead when she was robbed in her Inkster home on May 10.

DuBose, who is presently living in a group home, wasn't able to understand questions put to her ...

2 arraigned in execution-style death

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster police have arrested and charged two men, one from Detroit, with the July 27 execution-style slaying of a 22-year-old Westland man.

Charles Henderson Jr., 24, of Harding Street, Detroit, and Lorenzo Rhea, 23, of Hickory Street, Inkster, were arraigned Wednesday and charged with premeditated murder, attempted robbery and felony firearms.

Henderson and Rhea appeared before visiting Judge John McCartney in 22nd District Court and stood mute when the charges were read. The court entered "not guilty" pleas on all three counts for both defendants and ordered them held in the city lockup until 9 a.m. Wednesday when a hearing will be conducted.

Henderson and Rhea are accused of killing David Wrobel Jr. during a robbery attempt, according to Detective John McGruder.

Wrobel died of a gunshot wound to the back of the head, according to police reports.

"We believe that the two defendants attempted to rob the victim, however, they decided to kill him after the victim apparently recognized one of the suspects."

McGruder added that the department managed to break the case thanks to tips from citizens.

Henderson was picked up at his home in Detroit while Rhea was arrested when he showed up at the Inkster Police Department with his girlfriend on an unrelated matter.

"He was strolling around outside (the police station) with his girlfriend when we spotted him," said Detective Charles Hines, who assisted in the investigation. "We invited him in here and then arrested him for murder."

When police arrived at the murder scene they discovered that the victim had no identification. The body remained in the Wayne County Morgue for several days until the victim's father showed up at the Inkster police station and asked if they had his son in custody.

After questioning the father, police directed him to the county morgue where the senior Wrobel later identified his son.

The victim was last seen on July 27 at Middlebelt Road and Michigan Avenue where his wife had apparently dropped him off. The victim apparently had a drug problem and may have been looking for drugs when he was slain, according to police investigation reports.

Local 900 union bargains for more job security

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

As bargaining continues between the United Auto Workers (UAW) and Ford Motor Co., members of the Local 900 UAW in Wayne are going to make sure their voices are heard during negotiations.

Contracts for the 400,000 UAW workers expire at 11:59 p.m. Sept. 14.

Local 900 President Jeff Washington said his 5,400 members are not only looking for better health-care benefits, but also better conditions in the three Wayne plants off of Michigan Avenue-Ford Integral Stamping and Assembly Plant, Michigan Truck Plant and Ford Paint Plant.

"We have a heat problem in all of the plants," Washington said. "When it's 93 degrees outside, it's about 115 degrees inside. We would like some type of a cooling system in each plant."

Washington said if Ford wants a good quality product, conditions for the workers must also be top notch.

"We have a very good management team here that we believe we can work with," Washington said. "What we're also trying to do is get the 30 jobs back that were given to Mexico where they also build the Escort."

Washington said the number of jobs are being matched between Mexico and Wayne, however, he would like to see more jobs return to the workers in Michigan.

"We're down two weeks right now," Washington said. "Our workers would rather work than have to wait around. These are skilled individuals who want to earn their paycheck."

Higher pay is also a concern for the Local 900, however,

Washington said that will have to be negotiated on a national level.

"If the UAW as a whole does not get what we're looking for from Ford, we are prepared to go to the streets," Washington said. "The other problem we're having right now is with Mazda. Escort has a joint venture with Mazda, but they need six months advance notice for a job before they will act on it. That means it stops production as well as prevents our members from working."

The UAW has approximately $890 million in its strike fund as reported by the television media which is enough to sustain a national strike at General Motors for at least three months.

Issues to be resolved between the UAW and Ford include:

- Ford would like hourly workers to pay higher health care deductibles and some of their coverage premiums.
- The UAW wants Ford to stop moving jobs out of its plants and bring more work back. Ford would like a lower entry-level pay for new employees and a longer time before seniority and full pay takes effect.
- UAW officials want Ford to schedule less overtime in order to bring in more young workers to the plants.
- Ford has proposed a contract longer than the traditional three years with UAW members collecting lump-sum payments.

"What we're looking for is job security," Washington said. "We want security for the future, for our families."

The court hearing has been adjourned at least on four separate occasions by 22nd District Court Judge Sylvia James and visiting Judge Richard Hammer because the Wayne County assistant prosecutor could not produce DuBose in the courtroom to testify.

On at least two occasions, the defendant, McGraw, who is pregnant also was a "no show."

According to police reports, DuBose may not be able to testify because she "is not mentally or physically able to testify in court."

DuBose, who is presently living in a group home, "wasn't able to understand questions put to her and when she did answer, it was not related to the question and was mostly incoherent," according to the police report.

On May 10, DuBose told police that McGraw entered her Inkster home on the pretense of paying a $40 debt. She said that McGraw proceeded to rob her of $5,000 and then beat her over the head with a garden tool. The elderly woman was tied with rope and left to die, she said.

Neighbors found DuBose bleeding profusely from the head and rushed her to a hospital. She related her experience to the police.

In the meantime, McGraw who was evicted from her Inkster home, managed to appear on the street where DuBose resided and taunted the victim. McGraw was taken into custody at the home of her Detroit boyfriend and later charged with armed robbery.

The court had ordered a bench warrant for McGraw's arrest after she failed to show up for her hearing in 22nd District Court on Aug. 25. She has not made a court appearance since Aug. 11 when DuBose also failed to show up to testify against her alleged assailant because she was in the University of Michigan Hospital for an undisclosed ailment.

Local film launches Fabulous Fifties festival

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer
By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

What better way to kick-off the annual Belleville Fabulous Fifties Festival than to feature a special screening of a local film?

Organizers of the Belleville event couldn't think of a more appropriate start to the Sept. 11 event than to precede it with the award-winning film, Hefty's, set in a 1950s-style Coney Island, and to invite the filmmaker, John Prusak to be their special guest.

The film will be shown at the Belleville Masonic Lodge, 515 Main Street from 7 to 9 p.m. Sept. 10. Coney Island hot dogs and root beer will be served, and a suggested donation of $10 per person will benefit the Belleville Area Council for the Arts and the Detroit Area Film and Television Association.

"Hefty's is a social commentary about the change of values. It's about someone who expects defeat," said Prusak, who has taught media production at the William D. Ford Vocational Education Center in Westland for more than 22 years. "I think, it's a slice of Americana. It pays tribute to everyday people."

Prusak noted that his idea for the film came while dining at the popular Redford Township restaurant some 10 years ago. He liked the family atmosphere of the neighborhood restaurant and obtained the cooperation of owner Nick Marabeas to film the movie which tells the story of a wealthy young man who wants to prove himself by breaking a Coney-eating record.

The movie was filmed during an three-month period but the film took several years to complete while Prusak tried to find the time and money to finish the project.

In addition to teaching his students at the Westland education center filmmaking, photography and animation, Prusak also worked as a cinematographer on productions such as Roger and Me, Threads of Survival and Suite Harry.

Prusak said his current plan is to limit the showing of Hefty's to the Belleville Masonic Temple because it has been shown in film festivals around the country. Prusak won a Bronze Tally Award for the film at the Cincinnati Film Festival.

The 46-year-old filmmaker is currently working on a number of documentary productions. One of these productions is about Naomi Madgett, 70, poet from Detroit who will be honored by Governor John Engler as "Artist of the Year" in October. Prusak titled this production A Poet's Voice.

Another documentary Prusak is working on, titled, Walk This Way deals with a young man who has lost his legs.

Prusak creates his productions at Visual Impact Creations, a studio in Livonia which he co-owns with Vic Spicer, a former Westland resident.

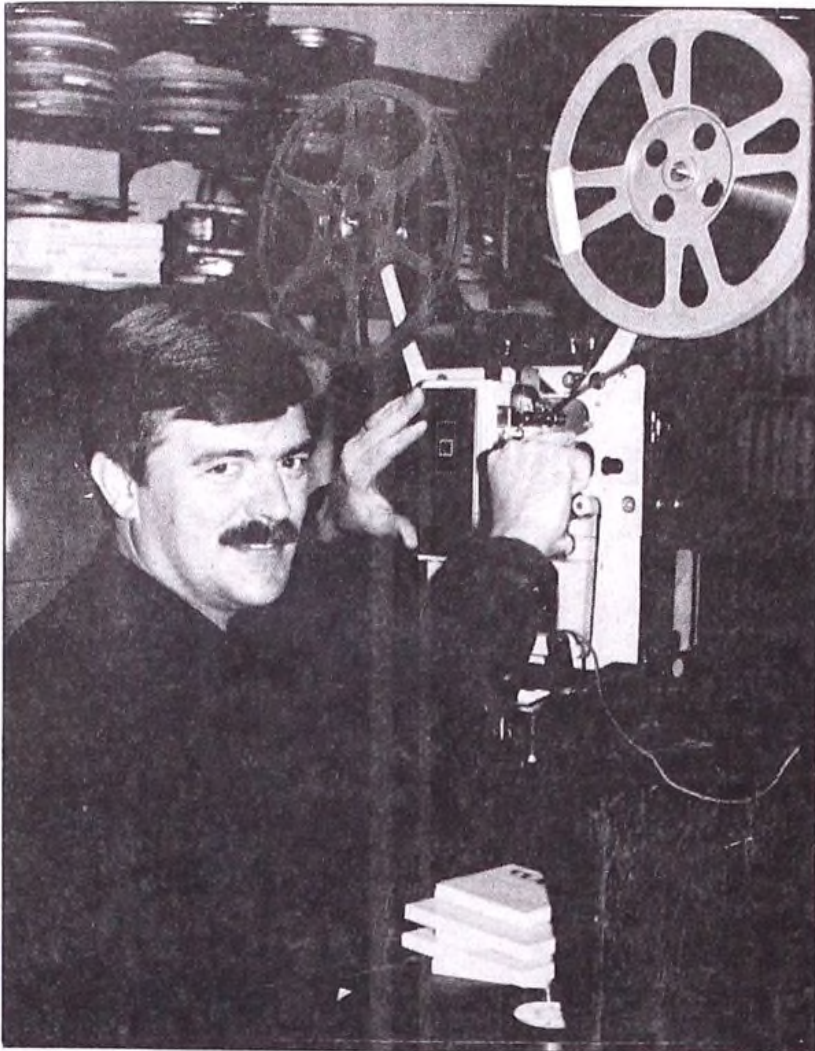

Prusak said his work mainly airs on public broadcast stations such as Channel 56. The filmmaker added that he just finished an animation commercial for Express Mortgage.

However, Prusak said, "I don't do too much commercial productions, except animation - it's therapeutic. With animation you deal with one frame at a time in a quiet environment. It's different than live action films."

Prusak said he prefers to work on productions dealing with social issues.

"I'm not working on dramatic or commercial type productions now. I'm moving back toward social issues," Prusak said.

Ticket information is available by calling 697-4455.

Kindergarteners face first day of school

Smiles were plentiful and tears were few when 21 kindergarteners appeared in Susan Ebbitt's classroom Monday afternoon for their first day of school.

It was a day of crisp hairbows, colorful ribbons, curled hair, new shirts and dresses and brand-new, shiny shoes.

"I only saw a few tears, but they vanished as soon as the kids went into the classroom," said Linda Richmond of Westland, a parent whose daughter is a member of the kindergarten class. "Missy was excited about going to school. She has two older brothers here at St. Mary's, and she's been here countless times. She's pretty much used to school by now."

Richmond noted that Missy and many of her classmates have attended pre-school, so they are accustomed to being in school. The trauma of the first day of school is no longer a problem for the five-year-old veterans of pre-schools and day care centers, she said.

When Missy, Dustin, Chelsea, Julie, Joseph and the 16 other kindergarteners entered the classroom, they were greeted with a familiar face - Barney.

The popular dinosaur character is a regular in Ms. Ebbitt's classroom.

"Who is that?" she questioned, and a chorus of five-year-olds called back the answer, "Barney."

The youngsters received Barney-style name tags, their storage area displays dinosaur pictures and a chart of outstanding students is labeled, "Dino-mite." Andrew Eberhart of Westland brought a Barney bookbag with him, and even the first lesson for the kindergarteners utilized a Barney theme.

On each desk were cut-out paper dinosaur footprints of varied colors and sizes. The kindergarteners grouped sizes and colors together, and marched around the room with their footprints in hand.

The only near-crisis occurred when the name tags didn't match all of the names. How was Ms. Ebbitt to know that Missy was really Mary Beth, that Marilyn is Marzie, that Alexander has shortened his name to Al and that Joseph prefers to be called Frank?

"It'll be OK. In a day of two, I'll know all of your names," said the kindergarten teacher. "Just wear the name tags for now."

The youngsters nodded their approval.

ROLLING ALONG

Wheelfest draws large crowd, provides family entertainment

Sounds of laughter, applause and screams of delight echoed through downtown Wayne last week as hundreds of residents from throughout western Wayne County attended the Wheelfest '93 celebration.

Highlights of the family extravaganza included entertainment by Steve King and the Dittlies, Cadillac Karaoke with Dave Hallway, Caution Band and the Willow Creek Band.

Despite Mother Nature trying to join the festivities with the tremendous heat wave and rain on Aug. 29, Festival Commission Chairwoman Joey Hultman said everyone had a good time.

"Everything went really well," Hultman said. "It was really hot and wet last weekend, but no one seemed to mind that much. Everyone was out to enjoy themselves."

The famous celebrity pie eating contest was won by Michael O'Brien although Associated Newspapers John Rhaesa was close behind.

Other highlights of the festival included the Kicks Tae Kwon Do demonstrations, Duffy Kazoo making balloon sculptures for the children and the popular dunk tank.

There were numerous concession stands where festival attendees could find a huge elephant ear to munch on or a large gulp of pop. Children were able to draw on the sidewalk with chalk while the Cub Scout packs 247/724 sponsored a kids video tent.

The 1993 Miss Wayne was crowned Aug. 26 after the parade. There were three winners this year which included Miss Wayne Stacey Grifka, first runner-up Valerie DeVore and second runner-up Robin Miller.

Grifka said the interview process was unique. "It took about 15 minutes for the interview," Grifka said. "The judges asked very different questions such as, 'Who is the mayor of Wayne?'"

"One of the most interesting questions was, 'If you were a visitor from outer space and you came to earth and picked up a penny, what would you think about it?'"

Grifka said she would think there is some kind of a money system on earth. With the words "In God We Trust" on the front of the penny, Grifka told the judges she would assume that there would be some kind of a religion established.

"If I didn't know who Abraham Lincoln was, I might think that he was the God of their religion," Grifka said. "I would also believe that liberty is very important to the people on this planet as it states on the front of the penny."

Grifka competed against 10 participants for the Miss Wayne title and counted among her prizes: Associated Newspapers-a year subscription to the Wayne Eagle and four cinema tickets; Creative Treasures-crown; First of America-$200 U.S. savings bond; Kay's Korner Salon-one haircut; Leo's Jewelry-watch and wall plaque; Mills-one portrait; Parkway Office Supply-a daily planner; Red Lobster-$15 gift certificate; State Wayne Theater-three tickets for two; Wayne Community Center-a three-month membership; J.L. Hudson's gift certificate for massage, haircut and finish with manicure; Doc's Bowling Supply-one ball and a bag; and Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union-$25 savings account.

"As Miss Wayne I hope to be as active as I can with the city," Grifka said. "I want to be able to make a difference in a positive way somehow."

Grifka is a senior at Divine Child High School. She had the opportunity this summer to travel to Jordan in Syria which was a result of a scholarship she achieved through attaining high honors in school.

The Miss Wayne first runner-up will receive: Associated Newspapers-one-year subscription to the Wayne Eagle and four cinema tickets; Kay's Korner Salon-one haircut and one tanning session; Leo's Jewelry-wall plaque; Old Country Buffet-one certificate for dinner for two; State Wayne Theater-three tickets for two; and Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union-$25 savings account.

The Miss Wayne second runner-up will receive: Associated Newspapers-one-year subscription to the Wayne Eagle and two cinema tickets; Kay's Korner Salon-one haircut and tanning session; Omega Restaurant-one dinner for two; State Wayne Theater-three tickets for two; Leo's Jewelry-wall plaque; Standard Federal Credit Union-$25 savings account; and Wayne-Westland Federal Credit Union-$25 savings account.

Each contestant was judged on self-presentation, appearance (neatness) and community involvement.

Local cable rates increase, decrease, remain the same

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Cable subscribers nationwide will be seeing a change in their monthly service bills. Some may see increases, some decreases, and some may not be affected by the effort of the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) to adjust cable rates so customers get exactly what they're paying for.

Most Westland cable customers will see a significant decrease in their monthly cable bills.

Continental Cablevision, which serves both Westland and Dearborn Heights, has announced that subscribers with satellite programming as well as basic and/or premium channels will see little or no increase in monthly charges. However, those without satellite service will experience at least a small decrease in their cable bills.

The basic service rate will drop from $12 per month to $10.90 and additional outlets for cable viewing will drop from $3.95 per month to just 32 cents. Viewers will also be paying a lot less for their remote control usage which previously cost $3.95 per month and now is just 12 cents.

Satellite viewers, however will see an increase from $8.25 per month to $11.36 per month. There will also be a monthly charge of $1.01 for converter boxes, which previously did not carry a monthly charge.

Monthly rates for premium service, which includes movie and sports channels, will remain at their current rates. Standard installation charges, change of service charges and disconnection charges will also remain the same.

In Canton Township, cable viewers for the most part will also see a decrease in their monthly cable bill.

"In accordance with the 1992 Cable Act, the adjustment will reflect a decrease in most cases," Lisa Boland, general manager of Omnicom Cable in Canton said.

“ Approximately 41 percent will see a decrease from as low as 93 cents to as high as $1.08. Service for 15 percent of our Wayne customers will remain the same. ”

Despite a new 3-percent franchise fee added to total monthly services, most people will pay less for their cable services.

The basic cable rate will decrease from $10.68 to $9.38. However, expanded cable service will increase from $11.65 to $12.83.

Remote controls will decrease from $5.34 to $1.26 and additional remotes will decrease from $3.88 to $1.26.

There will now be a charge for standard converter boxes of 86 cents. Additional converter boxes will drop in price from $1.94 to 86 cents. Additional outlets and video recorder outlets will drop in price from $2.91 per month to 17 cents per month.

Monthly rates for premium service channels will remain the same. They will, however, be subject to the 3-percent franchise fee.

Boland stated the new price structure will make some customers happy.

"Generally customers with more services will see a decrease in their rates, but customers with fewer services will be subject to an increase," Boland said.

Wayne cable viewers will experience a decrease in their full service cable rate from $22.40 to $20.98. Basic reception service was $12.95. The new rate will be $11.60.

"Approximately 41 percent will see a decrease from as low as 93 cents to as high as $1.08," Cablevision Industries (CVI) General Manager Rick Clark said. "Service for 15 percent of our Wayne customers will remain the same. The other 44 percent will see an increase of no higher than $1.95," Clark said.

The cost of tier-one cable programming was $9.45 and the new rate is $9.38.

"The cost for the volume remote control was $3, but now it will be 35 cents," Clark said.

The former CVI charge of $4.50 for additional outlets will be dropped completely. However, additional outlet premium service that was formerly free of charge is now $3.25.

Addressable remote equipment which was free of charge will now cost $3.37 per month and non-addressable remote equipment, which was also free of charge, will cost $1.42 per month.

Romulus and Van Buren Township Omnicom cable watchers will have slight decreases in their cable bills. The basic service charge of $9.50 will drop to $8.91, however, expanded tier programming will be raised from $12.25 to $12.47.

Remote converters will cost $2.38 per month in comparison to $3.50. The cost of additional outlets per month will drop dramatically from $5 to 29 cents.

Premium services, which include movie and sports stations, will drop slightly from $7.95 to $7.57.

Inkster residents will not see much effect from the cable rate restructuring through Barden Cablevision.

Basic service, which was previously $18.50, will be raised to $19.39. However, cable viewers using remote controls will be charged 25 cents instead of the former monthly charge of $3.50 per outlet.

Premium channel prices will remain the same as well as premium channel outlets.

One of the more complicated projects which was worthy of a first-place ribbon was a rose, black and white quilted jacket.

"It took me three days to make that one, and why it was so difficult is because when I was following the instructions, I noticed the instructions were wrong so I had to take it upon myself to finish the project," Smith said.

A Christmas candy cane quilted blanket took fourth place. Smith even created her own unique earrings that would represent a sewer. That project won second place.

"I took spools of thread and split them in half," Smith said. "I then wrapped the thread around the half spool and put

“ She tried to teach me, but because I was left handed, she didn't really know what to do. ”
Leora Smith

a pierced hook on the inside.”

Other entries by Smith included a wicked witch, wreath and a pillow.

"I always sewed as a child," Smith said. "My mother, however, was the one who had the best needle work around."

"She tried to teach me, but because I was left handed, she didn't really know what to do."

Smith said her all-time favorite project is quilts.

"I always wanted one as a child, but I never had one," Smith said. "If I didn't make one myself, I knew I wouldn't have one."

With the wicked witch, it took a bit of sawing and hammering, but when the more than 2-foot statue was completed, Smith said it became her very favorite item that she made by hand.

Smith, a 1962 Wayne Memorial graduate, has already taking a jump start for the fair next year by working on various quilted items.

"I've started making a reindeer for Christmas, and I've got four quilts in the making," Smith said. "I encourage everyone to try to make at least one thing in their life because it is very rewarding."

Smith received a sash and a plaque for becoming Home-maker of the Year.
